Methodology

Screening Venue: In-house

Screening Party: Walden Asset Management/Boston Trust

Screening Database Used: In house only
Screening Process: The Walden Small Cap Innovations Fund seeks to identify companies with innovative products, services or processes leveraged to secular market trends with long-term investment potential. These secular trends may include demographics, consumer lifestyle, an increasingly technical workforce, or legal and regulatory issues. Based on these trends, current investment themes include: Connectivity, Education, Energy Solutions, Healthy Living, Medical Care, Resource Efficiency, Underserved Markets, Waste Reduction and Workplace Leaders. Walden believes that the sustainability of a business is connected, in part, to its treatment of workers, customers, communities and the natural environment as valuable, long-term assets. Beyond identifying companies with innovative products, services and processes for the Fund, Walden researches and evaluates potential holdings in five broad areas of concern: products and services, environmental impact, workplace conditions, community relations and corporate governance. In doing so, Walden understands that companies are complex entities that generally exhibit a range of corporate conduct, from commendable to objectionable, across various dimensions of ESG performance. In addition, company performance can improve or erode over time, especially relative to peers. Hence, in each of the five broad areas identified above, and notwithstanding other investment considerations, Walden favors companies judged to demonstrate best practices relative to peers, improvement over time, robust management systems, and accountability through standardized public reporting and responsiveness to shareholders. Walden, on behalf of the Walden Funds, also pursues shareholder advocacy strategies - proxy voting, company dialogues, shareholder resolutions and public policy advocacy - to promote greater corporate social responsibility and encourage sustainable business practices. Additionally, if the ESG performance of a company in the Walden Funds is perceived to have weakened over time, Walden considers the potential for effective shareholder advocacy in deciding whether to hold or sell the company.

Specific Screening Information by Category

Environment

- Climate / Clean Technology: Positive Investment - Walden Asset Management shares our clients’ deep concern regarding climate change. To achieve the global emissions reduction required to avoid catastrophic climate change, we believe that priority number one is to develop, enact, and enforce strong public policies that place a price on carbon. Since U.S. and global economic growth remain inextricably linked to fossil fuel use during the transition to a more carbon-constrained environment, the Walden mutual funds pursue a multi-pronged approach that integrates climate change risk in investment decision-making, corporate engagement, and public policy advocacy. Walden favors investment in companies with products and processes promoting energy efficiency and natural resource conservation; strong and transparent greenhouse gas reduction policies, goals, programs, and results; and supportive and consistent public policy positions. More proactively, Walden looks for opportunities to invest in companies with innovative, solutions-oriented technologies such as energy and fuel efficiency, carbon sequestration or renewable energy development. Walden’s investment approach results in portfolios with favorable carbon footprints relative to those of comparable benchmarks.
