Strategy description: The Parnassus Mid Cap Equity strategy is a fundamental, U.S., mid-cap, core equity strategy. The strategy invests principally in undervalued equity securities of medium-capitalization companies between $3 billion and $20 billion at the time of initial purchase. The strategy seeks to invest in established companies with good businesses that are still developing. The strategy also takes environmental, social and governance factors into account in making investment decisions. The investment philosophy is to own good businesses at reasonable prices. First, the company’s products or services have to be more relevant in the economy five years from now than they are today. Second, the company must have a sustainable competitive advantage. Third, the company has to be run by quality management teams with appropriate incentives. Once the investment team determines that a company’s intrinsic value is increasing, the investment team performs a detailed valuation which results in a probability-weighted, multi-scenario, three-year price target for the stock. The portfolio manager buys a stock when the price yields an acceptable, risk-adjusted, expected internal rate of return.
